Do we really need to
own all this stuff??

In modern urban life, populous city residents usually live in a relatively small apartments, where they don't have a garage or storage room to store a lot of stuff.

As a society, overconsumption is a big problem, we buy so many items and just store them for a long time, while rarely actually using them.

For example, a driller – used only once in a long time to hang pictures.

lawn mowers,
spare chairs/tables
for hosting, etc.

מחירו הגבוה?

האם נתקלת במצב בו היה חסר לפרקט כלשהו ולא רכשת אותו עקב
חסר במקום אחסון ?

האם נתקلت במצב בו היה חסר לפרקט כלשהו ולא רכשת אותו עקב
תדירות שימוש נמוכה בו?

הסקר מאשש את ההנחה המסוכנת – אנשים לא מחזיקים את כל החפצים שהם רוצים בבתיהם.
100% מהמשיבים ענו בחיוב על לפחות שאלה אחת .
הסקר מאשש את ההחלטה להתמקד בקהל היעד מסוים – צעירים .

Obvious Solution? Sharing!
We're presenting Friendborhood - a web application for sharing stuff with people around you.

Whether it's renting or lending for free, the neighbors can decide what's right for them.

Using Friendborhood's platform, users can easily find and offer items to and from people nearby them.

Our vision is to maximize the usage of each item, saving materials - while making the neighborhood less alienated, but a friendlier and fun environment.

Friendborhood is saving money for its users, freeing them from the hassle of buying and storing items they rarely use.

We also support more environment friendly approach, avoiding over-consumption which contributes to an unnecessary pollution and harms Earth.

Goals and ideology

Maximize the use of already existing products •

Help people who can't afford stuff - use them by sharing. •

Make neighborhoods around the world friendlier and happier •
